Lynn Andrews, MEd
University of Massachusetts Boston
Instructional Design
Email: Lynn.Andrews@umb.edu

Lynn graduated from the Instructional Design Graduate Program at UMass Boston and has over 25 years of experience in the instructional design and education field. She began her career with a two year teaching assignment in Australia. In the fall of 1999 she found herself back in the classroom teaching Introduction to Instructional Design at UMass Boston. Since then, Lynn has taught other courses in the Instructional Design Graduate Program, including: Assessment in the Instructional Design Process, Writing for the Business (ID) Professional and special topics - Project Management for the Instructional Designer and Assessment of Training Programs. In addition to teaching Lynn continues to work in the instructional design field specializing in change management for enterprise wide business process redesign implementations.

Judith Erdman, MEd
University of Massachusetts Boston
Instructional Design
Email: Judith.Erdman@umb.edu

Judith Erdman is the Director of the Instructional Design Graduate Program at the University of Massachusetts Boston. She graduated from St. Mary-of-the-Woods College with her Bachelor’s degree, received teacher certification from Purdue University, and holds a Master of Education in Instructional Design from UMass Boston. She has over twenty-five years teaching and instructional design experience, along with expertise in the development and management of adult training, education and professional development programs. Judith is a Mindfulness Practitioner and teaches workshops in mindfulness-based stress reduction (MBSR).

Alan Girelli, PhD
University of Massachusetts Boston
Instructional Design
Email: Alan.Girelli@umb.edu

Alan Girelli earned his PhD in Composition and Rhetoric, Graduate Studies in English, UMass Amherst. Girelli directs the Center for Innovation and Excellence in eLearning (CIEE), housed with the College of Advancing and Professional Studies (CAPS) at UMass Boston. In addition to having been involved with UMass Boston distance education programming since 1996 (before advent of online education), Girelli has taught online, on ground, and blended writing and design courses at UMass Boston, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and ITT Technologies at both the undergraduate and graduate level.

Valerie Haven, MDiv, STM
University of Massachusetts Boston
Instructional Design
Email: Valerie.Haven@umb.edu

Ms. Haven is the Academic Technology Coordinator for the University of Massachusetts Ross Center for Disability Services. She specializes in the areas of distance education and Universal Design for Learning. Ms. Haven is adjunct faculty for the Instructional Design Graduate Program at UMass Boston and the Special Education Master’s Program at the University of Maine. She received the Sloan Consortium's President's Special Award for outstanding achievement by an individual in the field of on-line learning in 2010 and the Campus Technology Magazine's 2012 Innovators Award.
Rebecca Hogue, ABD
University of Ottawa
Education
Email: Rebecca.Hogue@umb.edu
Rebecca J. Hogue is an Associate Lecturer at University of Massachusetts-Boston. She is pursuing a PhD in Education at the University of Ottawa, Canada and is co-founder of Virtually Connecting (http://virtuallyconnecting.org). Her professional background is in instructional design and software quality assurance. She holds a Master of Arts Degree in Distributed Learning, and a Bachelor of Science Degree in Computer Science. She has over 15-years experience as an instructional designer in a variety of contexts (private sector, higher education, medical education). Rebecca currently resides in Sunnyvale, California.

Fran Keefe, MEd
University of Massachusetts Boston
Instructional Design
Email: Fran.Keefe@umb.edu
Fran has over 25 years of experience in Learning and Technology. She teaches e-learning development courses, both online and in the classroom, in the Instructional Design Graduate Program. Fran has spoken at national conferences around the country on E-learning and has worked as an Instructional Designer and Technical Trainer for several companies in the Boston area including Fidelity Investments, Kofax, Inc. and Cognos Corporation.

Apostolos Koutropoulos, MBA, MS, MEd, MA
University of Massachusetts Boston
Instructional Design, Information Technology, Human Resources and Applied Linguistics
Email: A.Koutropoulos@umb.edu
Apostolos Koutropoulos ("AK") is the program coordinator for the online MA program in Applied Linguistics and a faculty member in the Instructional Design program at UMass Boston. Over the last year and a half he has participated in many massive online open courses (MOOCs) and has co-authored research papers and book chapters with his colleagues in the MobiMOOC Research Team (MRT). AK holds a BA in computer science, an MBA with a focus on human resources, an MS in information technology, an MEd in instructional design, and an MA in applied linguistics. He is currently pursuing an Ed.D. in Distance Education from Athabasca University. His research interests include distance education, knowledge management, educational technology, linguistics, and epistemology.

Christin Manning, PhD
Lesley University
Educational Studies - Adult Learning
Email: Christin.Manning@umb.edu
Christin is an Instructional Design Consultant with over 20 years of experience in Training and Development. She has worked as a trainer, course developer, manager, and instructional designer working primarily in the high tech industry. Christin has been teaching for the UMass Boston Instructional Design Graduate Program since 2007, and has a PhD in Adult Learning from Lesley University. She earned her MEd in Instructional Design at UMass Boston.

Kevin O'Rourke, MEd
Roger Williams University
Instructional Design Specialist
Email: korourke@rwu.edu
Kevin O'Rourke has a MEd in Instructional Design from the University of Massachusetts Boston and a B.S. (cum laude) in Media/Communications from Framingham State University. He is a Quality Matters (QM) Certified Peer Reviewer. Kevin has several years of experience as an instructor in both undergraduate and graduate programs. He is currently an Instructional Design Specialist for Roger Williams University in Bristol, RI. Previously, he was a Producer/Instructional Designer for the LMS team and an Associate Productions Coordinator for the Distance Learning Video Production Center at UMass Boston. He has produced and directed a number of documentaries and is a published author. Kevin is an award winning filmmaker and recipient of numerous awards for both video and multimedia productions.
Domenic Screnci, EdD
Boston University
Educational Media and Technology
Email: Domenic.Screnci@umb.edu

Domenic is the Executive Director for Educational Media and Technology at Boston University. He serves the university as an educational technologist, instructional systems designer and integrator, instructional designer and a producer of curriculum materials for traditional and new media based educational projects. Dr. Screnci has 30 years of experience in the field of biocommunications, and is currently the co-director of Boston University’s new online Master of Science Health Communications Program.

Carol Sharicz, EdD
Boston University
Human Resources Education
Email: Carol.Sharicz@umb.edu

Carol is a professor of education, author, and practitioner in organizations, focusing on instructional design, organization development, and training. Her research focuses on systems thinking, leadership, and learning communities. Dr. Sharicz has done research and/or teaching in 13 countries to date, including Australia, Belgium, Belarus, Brazil, Canada, England, Estonia, Germany, Holland, India, Japan, Hong Kong, and Russia. Prior work experience includes being a senior training instructor for Motorola, Inc. Dr. Sharicz has many publications to her credit, including her book, The Big Picture: A Systems Thinking Story for Managers and is a frequent presenter at regional, national, and international conferences.

Gene Shwalb, MBA, MEd
University of Massachusetts Boston
Instructional Design
Email: Gene.Shwalb@umb.edu

Gene is a Senior Instructional Designer for College of Advancing and Professional Studies at UMass Boston. He trains and consults with online faculty in the use of Blackboard, Vista, and other instructional technology tools and methods which support pedagogically sound distance learning. Gene is an instructor at UMass Boston, teaching graduate courses in Instructional Design and Technology. He earned his MEd in Instructional Design from UMass Boston and is a certified Quality Matters Reviewer for the University. Gene is also a professional musician.